MR SMITH'S ADVENTURE.

BY FRANCIS A. DURIVAGE.

Continued.

"MR. WILLIAM SMYTHE:—Your uncle has begged me to write, because he has got the gout in his hand, and can't hold a pen. He begs me to say that he wishes you all sorts of happiness, but he can't think of being present at the ceremony. He sends you a wreath a hundred guineas, and a letter of credit on his banker of Paris, and will expect you as soon as the honeymoon and your tour on the continent are ended.

Humbly wishing you joy for myself I remain, Yours to command,
SIMON SLOW."

"I don't know this Simon Slow," thought Smith, "but I suppose he's my uncle's steward. The fellow thinks to compliment me by spelling my name Smythe; but plain Smith is good enough for me. It's a respectable family, but contains too many Johns."

Of course he pocketed the money without scruple, and prepared to go through the ceremony with the case, grace and nonchalance of a man of the world. He was introduced to a great many people, and shook hands so many times that his shoulder ached. At length the carriage was announced. The nerve taking was hurried through, the happy couple escaped from their friends and took their seats, the postillions plied whip and spur, and, in emancipation of liberal fees, and away they were behind four spanking bays at a rattling rate down the same road, up which the unconscious bridegroom had strolled in such a mood that very morning.

As he glanced out of the window, he saw a pedestrian, in drab gaiters, wiping his streaming forehead and toiling in the dust. Smith smiled. If anything can add to the gratification of being whirled along in a carriage, it is to contrast it with the pedestrianism on a dusty road. But did Mr. Smith suspect who that walker was. While Mr. and Mrs. Smith were flying on their bridal tour, let us follow up that little pedestrian. Overcome with the heat of the weather, and his own exertions, he sat down on a stone.

"Wan 'orid 'ot day!" he exclaimed in the purest cockney vernacular, as he mopped his crimson forehead with his thick bandanna. "'Ot enough to rost an Ottentot—I to think of that ere hengine running the rail and spillin all the passengers! Wot a hescape for me! Vonder if I haint in the right direction. That looks as if it might be the 'ouse. 'Ullo, you, sir!"

The last words were addressed to a servant in livery, whom we have before encountered, and who was now strolling along evidently affected by campaigne before breakfast.

"Who are you speaking to?" said he, loftily.

"To you," was the reply. "Whose 'ouse is that?"

"Mr. Ruggles's."

"I thought so. He's your master he is?" The servant nodded.

"Vell, you're expecting somebody, ain't you, ha?"

"Oh, no," replied the servant.

"Nobody," asked the pedestrian, coaxingly, and placing a slip in the hands of the man.

"No, nobody."

"Vhere's your young lady?"

"Gone off."

"Gone off!" exclaimed the cockney, "vhen, and with whom?"

"With her husband."

"Her 'usband—it ain't possible!" cried the cockney.

"Vot's your name?" cried the cockney.

"Sam."

"Then, Sam, show me to your master—I must see him hinstantly—hinstantly," cried the little cockney, with a tragic air.

There was something so imperative in the manner that the servant did not hesitate to comply with his demand. He took him into the house, and ushered him into the presence of Mr. Ruggles. There was nothing very jolly in parting with an only daughter, and even Ruggles who was one of the heartiest of mortals, left alone in his drawing room while his wife had gone up stairs to have a good cry, was not in the best possible humor. So, after motioning his guest to a seat, he inquired somewhat sourly—

"Pray, sir, to what am I indebted for the honor of this visit?"

"Vy, sir," replied the little cockney, in the same phraseology of politeness and frugal severity of manner—"I simply come to pay my respects and inquire after the 'ealth of the family."

"Sir, I am much obliged to you for your solicitude," replied Mr. Ruggles. "We are pretty well I thank you."

"Hincluding your daughter, I 'ope," said the little cockney bowing.

"Including my daughter," said Mr. Ruggles. "You are aware, perhaps, that she was married this morning."

"Married!" cried the cockney, starting to his feet. "Married? I'll trouble you to repeat that expression, Mr. Ruggles."

"My daughter was married this morning," replied the bereaved father, with a savage air, intended to say, what's that to you?

"Vill you 'ave the extream kindness, Mr. Ruggles to inform me whom your daughter married?"

"Nothing could afford me greater pleasure," replied the father bitterly. "The name of my son-in-law is William Smith."

"It is, is it?" replied the cockney trembling violently.

"Yes sir, William Smith," replied Mr. Ruggles calmly.

"Smythe vith a y and e, or Smith vith a i and a hatch?" inquired the cockney furiously.

"What is it to you how he spells his name," cried Mr. Ruggles, getting angry.

"Hevrything," furiously cried the cockney, thrusting a letter into Mr. Ruggles's hand.

Mr. Ruggles read it, and turned pale.

"From your uncle, sir," he said.

"Yes, sir, from my uncle, whom you've been a foolin' as you've been a foolin' me!"

"O, why—why," cried Ruggles, rising and pacing the room, "why didn't you get here sooner?"

HOW TO PUT OFF THE OLD MAN—A FACT.—Put your hand over Deacon M.'s head, and about an inch and a half above, and a little forward of the ears, you find a protuberance which phrenologists call the bump of acquisitiveness.

By nature the Deacon loved Mammon; by grace he loved God. Between them there was a continual war. Both fought—one like Michael, the other like the Devil. As there was a long war between the house of David and the house of Saul, so there was long war in the earthly house of the Deacon.

As with Gad, so with the Deacon; a troop overcame him, but he overcame at last, as appears by the following circumstances:

In the same church with Deacon M. was a poor brother. This poor man had the misfortune to lose his cow. She died. To get him another, the good Deacon headed a subscription with five dollars, and paid it. This act disquieted Mammon. Mammon, with true Iscariot zeal, began to rant and rave: "Why this waste? charity begins at home; the more you give the more you may; let people learn to take care of themselves."

The tempter backed Mammon, and putting a glass to the Deacon's eye, showed him, not the kingdoms and glories of this world, but the poor-house, wretchedness, poverty and rags and said: "All these things will your master give you in your old age as a reward of your charity."

To still these clamors, Deacon M. went to the destitute man, and told him he must give back the five dollars. The poor man returned it. This last act roused the NEW MAN, and now nature and grace stood face to face.

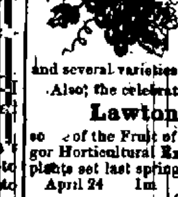

To give, or not to give, that was the question.

Thus stood the Deacon, poising and balancing, and halting between two opinions. The Deacon spoke: "My brother, some men are troubled with their old women; I am troubled with my old man. I must put off my old man, as the Jews put of their new man—crucify him, crucify him." Then unstrapping his pocket-book, he took out a ten dollar bill and gave the poor man. "There," said the Deacon, "my old man; say another word, and I'll give him twenty dollars."—Christian Secretary.

Cheap & Convenient Building.
Door, Sash and Blind Factory.
A. DUNBAR
HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds, for good dwelling-houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their place in the structure.
This business has now become so well systemized that only a small margin is left in knowing beforehand the cost of a dwelling-house, while the work is of a uniform excellent quality.
Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Rose Place, or at the store of H. S. Jackson, in Exchange st., and at either place any article may be obtained or large quantities ordered.
Mr. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them at the shortest notice.
By long experience, and by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to suit his customers, both in quality and price, and so well organized is the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods.

[Copy of a Letter.]
BALTIMORE, Jan. 8, 1856.
Messrs. C. & J. Marshall—Gentlemen: At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to our opinion and experience of your copper-coated spikes, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, and better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper.
We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper, and have had occasion to draw them out a year afterwards, and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxidation.
Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) JOHN D. FARDY & BRO.

CHICKERING PIANOS.
WE are still the only authorized agents for these justly celebrated instruments in Bangor.
We are also agents for George Hewes excellent Pianos, which will compare favorably with any other make in the market, in quality or price.
Persons about purchasing will please examine them. We might give an account of Medals and Diplomas at Fairs, and certificates of eminent Professors in their praise, but consider it unnecessary. Those interested in such matters can examine for themselves.
Also, to close them off, a few of Brown & Allen's Pianos, at cost.

Sewing Machines.
To Clothiers, Tailors, &c.
NOW IS THE TIME, during the dull season, and before the hurry of business, to introduce the Sewing Machines. An investment of $125 in a Sewing Machine will procure more clear profit than a much larger sum invested in any other way. Having settled all suits against our Machines, there is not a shadow of claim against them. The Excelsior and Dorcas machines both infringing our patent we have prosecuted in the United States Court, having jury trials in separate Courts, and we have come out triumphantly. Next the Wheeler & Wilson, and the Grover & Baker, are expected to come off this month. We therefore caution the public not to purchase or use any of the infringing Machines, if they desire to escape litigation, for we shall claim our rights.
I. M. SINGER & CO.

Sewing Machines.
The great and peculiar advantage of Singer's Sewing Machine is this:
One Machine will perform every kind of work perfectly by simply changing the Needle and Thread; the machines are simple in their operation, strong, durable, and not liable to get out of order.
All who wish to purchase, and the public in general, are invited to call at No 41 Broad street, Bangor. E. W. HANSON, Agent.

Lubeck on the Baltic.

It was late on the morning of the 21st of December when we opened our eyes in Lubeck. Even the sluggish sun of this northern clime had raised his head before us, and was peering feebly and sleepily from his distant couch, if he might, perchance, discover something new in the wondrous old streets of the middle age city. The air was cold and sharp, and the window-panes were whitened and spangled with frost. No "hum of business" came up to our ears, save that an enterprising "organ grinder" was already retailing his inexhaustible little circle of "popular melodies."

Notwithstanding all our resolves of the previous evening, on the subject of rising early, the practice seemed, at just this time, far less commendable than the principle. The exercise of thirty miles walk, had, I must confess, rather unfitted us to entertain disinterestedly any propositions of this nature. It was something of a question, too, how we were to extricate ourselves from the mountains of covering, under which we had been compressed. I watched the mighty pile above my friend. At first there appeared certain movements and commotions ominous of life below. These gradually increased to terrible convulsions, and for some time the victory seemed doubtful. I tried to speak encouragingly, as the French and English papers say Napoleon did to the Empress, and, at last, he emerged, so meek, and so puny, looking by the side of the great feather heap, that I was strongly reminded of the old Latin line:—

"Montes laborant—paritur ridiculus mus!"

I cleared a peeping place on the glass, and looked out on the odd old roofs, of mediaeval structure, so curious to us dwellers in a land of new-born things. The old man was still grinding at his music-mill below, while, now and then, a market woman stopped for an instant to listen, and then stamped along with her merchandise. We went shivering down stairs, and the good landlady of the "Five Towers" gave us our bread and butter and coffee, and we went forth to explore.

The interest, which attaches to this free city of the Baltic, is not so much for what it now is, as for its connection with the great past. Its population is scarcely twenty-five thousand.— Its commerce is the least of the four free cities. To the business world it is a place of little importance. The high court of Lubeck, however, stands as the highest tribunal of the free cities. It may set aside the decisions of the Hamburg, Frankfort, or Bremen Senates, and the citizens of these places have the right of appeal to it. Thus, in the idea, it still cherishes a remnant of its ancient power. In the place itself there is little of its ancient splendor to be found. It has never recovered from the great blow which it received in the Napoleonic wars, when Blucher retreating before Bernadotte, took refuge, contrary to all laws of right or humanity, within its walls, and thus brought upon it all the excesses and barbarities of a victorious French army. At that time the most unreasonable demands were made on the citizens. Their very parlors, richly furnished, and decorated with works of art were used as stables for the French cavalry.— No rights of property were regarded, and over their persons were subjected to such violence as should, alone, brand the French of that day with eternal ignominy. The magnificent old churches of Lubeck still stand, and are the just pride of the city. Here and there, too, the wanderer comes upon some strange old building, now dreary and desolate to the eye, its walls browned with the winters and summers of centuries, but all speaking of former greatness.

We were on our way to the "Marien" church; for that, with its famous old clock and Overbeck's "Dance of Death" stand first on the list. The proper time to be there is at noon, for it is only at the striking of twelve that the apostles come forth and make their obeisance. At that time, too, the little side room containing the great painting is unlocked to all. We passed along under the high, dark turreted walls of the old "Rathhaus," or council house. We went through into the old market square, and walked along the arcade, by the same old granite blocks which Henry the Lion allowed to be taken from Bardewick in Hannover, to decorate this favorite city. Here they have stood since the twelfth century. How much of history—of unknown history—they might tell us if they could but speak! And who shall tell us their history, for who can tell of the founding of Bardewick, now a miserable village, but once the first city of all Northern Germany, and as old as the Roman Empire! From whence did they come to the great stoneless plain in which Bardewick stands? You can find nothing like them, short of the great exotic boulders which are strown on the plains of Mecklenburg and Brandenburg. So it would seem that they must have twice crossed the Elbe.

The stores along the little arcade are principally occupied by jewellers. The square was quite full of little covered stands, displaying country wares. A principal article was boots and shoes. There were several stands for the sale of wooden shoes, so much used through Germany. Some of these latter, I noticed, were quite stylish; the "upper" of the slipper being of patent leather, and the wooden sole having a nice padding to ease the foot. These are, I dare say, only worn by the "upper ten" of the wooden shoe-wearing community, or on particular occasions, for I have rarely seen one in the street.

The meat market was supplied with all varieties, both wild and domestic, the stock being probably greater than usual on account of the approaching holiday. There were stands, too, such as one meets with often in these German [illegible] [illegible] of all sorts and description [illegible] admit of any descriptive catalogue, but [illegible] through all the wants and professions of [illegible] existence. Very little was to be seen of fruits save the foreign preserved fruits which we find in our own markets. Straw work in all forms, from foot-stools to table-mats, was quite abundant. Beneath the "Rathhaus" is a great wine cellar belonging to the city. We were conducted through it by lamplight. For half an hour one may wander through the labyrinth of avenues, and see on either side of him huge tuns of wines, bearing the labels of their respective ages.— They show here, too, sundry venerable looking old chairs and benches, once belonging to the ships of the German navy, and if you choose, you may sit down and drink a glass of wine, in the same seat where some sturdy Dutch Captain has doubtless done the same thing many times before. An avenue leads from this cellar to that of the Marien church.

At a quarter before twelve we were in the Marien church, looking at the many pictures which decorate it on all sides, and awaiting the great [illegible] development. The interior of the church is remarkably high, said to be the highest in Germany. Like that at Cologne, The dust of many years is gathered away up in the high arches and niches and darkens a good many windows which were designed to be white. The wonderful clock stands in this great room, in the end opposite to the two grand church towers. It is, itself, perhaps thirty feet high, and winds up from it, through, to the bell tower which stand above it. In this there is a fine chime of bells, though, as you look from the ground without at the general figure of the church, this little tower seems to be nothing, compared with the mighty structures springing from either roof at the other end.

But the time was drawing near. The five-minute chime had already sounded and we took our expectant station before the dial. Here was already a waiting circle. As the hand drew close upon the point of twelve, the company was breathlessly silent. I could not repress a smile as I looked at the various countenances. Every eye winked remarkably quick, and at long intervals lest something might be lost to its eager gaze. Nearly every mouth, too, was suffering from great distension, so that to a disinterested observer it might have seemed as though a band of South Sea Cannibals was waiting to make its dinner on the poor apostles.

As all things must come to a crisis where Time is the arbiter, so here, at last, came a click, and a whizz and a rattling of wheels, as if weights were running down and then we heard the four quarters struck on a little bell in the tower, and then the great bell sounded twelve, and then the beautiful chime began its melody. Meantime two angel figures, standing on either side of a little semi-circular platform, raised their golden trumpets to their lips, and a pair of arched folding doors were thrown open on one side, and forth marched the twelve, headed as they say, by Peter. A figure of our Saviour stands in the middle of the circle, and as they respectively passed before him, each turned himself and bowed. And so they all passed by, and the doors on the opposite side opened, and they retired again, and the doors closed, and the angels put down their golden trumpets again by their sides, and all was still. The programme was over, and the actors had once more taken up their twelve hours abode in the "temple of time." There is probably no company in the world, so punctual in the performance of their public duties as this.

(The remainder in our next.)

One of the Panama Victims.—In a letter received by a gentleman of this city, it is stated that Mr. Hartley Gove, of Bath, who was among those injured at Panama, was robbed of $12,000 in gold—the hard acquisitions of the labor of some years in Australia, and all that he possessed. Mr. Gove was formerly a merchant of Bath—an honorable and highly respected man, but unfortunate in business.— Without yielding to despair, however, he sought fortune with energy in another hemisphere, and was returning with his just reward, when he was again stripped of his means by the pillagers on the Isthmus. We are pleased to learn that Mr. Gove's old friends at Bath are about to testify their respect and sympathy in a substantial manner.

The personal injuries received by Mr. Gove were quite severe, and of an internal nature—but it is thought they will not prove serious.— He is now at Bath.

In regard to his pecuniary losses, as well as those of other Americans, we have no doubt that our government will exact indemnity from that of New Grenada. If it does not, it will grossly fail in its duty.

The Journal says there is no more rum sold than last summer, and no more drunkenness. We think the every day observation of our own citizens will testify to the contrary. In the nature of things it cannot be otherwise than that drinking should increase where there are open grog-shops where young men and boys have the example before their eyes, and facilities afforded them for following it, which they have not before had. As to drunkenness there is more than formerly, even now—but it requires some little time to make drunkards. A year's experience of the new law will show more effectually its lamentable effects than can be demonstrated at its commencement.

Not Correct. The Whig in its translation of the new liquor law says the law allows the tavern keeper to sell without a license. This is not so. The law reads—"Innholders, duly licensed as such, may also be authorized to sell liquors only to travellers and strangers who shall be the guests and lodgers of such innholders."—Journal.

As this is the construction of the law, that tavern-keepers must obtain a license to sell liquor, after having obtained an inn-holders license—and that town authorities may legally refuse to grant them license to sell liquor—we apprehend the tavern-keepers have not obtained what they supposed they had from the coalition.

One of the Southern Telegraphic lines from New York, with a paid up capital of less than $100,000 has reached a net income as high as $4000 a month.

The "Dow, Peck and Weaver" Refrain.

The Bangor Journal has but one political ditty, and the eternal sing-song refrain is "Dow, Peck and Weaver." No matter what question may come up for discussion or for settlement by the people, the ceaseless rallying cry of that flippant sheet is "Dow, Peck and Weaver."— If the whole country is on fire with excitement in regard to the greatest national question with which we have yet had to contend, the Journal may for a time join in the discussion, but before it closes, we are sure to be favored with a philippic against "Dow, Peck and Weaver," and although the Journal does admit that national matters will have to be passed upon by the people, during the current year, it is very urgent in its assurances that the November election is the time for those issues, and that in September the people must be confined to the sublime and lofty duty of recording another condemnation against "Dow, Peck and Weaver." The Journal insists that State matters alone are in issue then, and that the people must not for a moment lose sight of "Dow, Peck and Weaver." From this we understand the Journal to declare that the six members of Congress who are then to be chosen, are not to be elected with reference to their opinions and their votes on great national questions, but solely on the "Dow, Peck and Weaver" issue. And that the Legislature which is to choose an U. S. Senator at this great crisis of our national affairs, is not to be elected with any reference whatever to that end, but simply and solely on the basis of opposition to "Dow, Peck and Weaver." Now for our part we are by no means disposed to give Messrs. "Dow, Peck and Weaver," nor any other three men, nor any hundred men, a position of such prominence; as neither of the three individuals will in all probability be a candidate for any office, we cannot see the exact propriety of rallying the people in opposition to them. It is really magnifying Messrs. "Dow, Peck and Weaver" into an importance which they would be far from arrogating to themselves, and which the people will be very slow to accord to them.

The simple solution of this raving cry of "Dow, Peck and Weaver," which continually fills the columns of the Bangor Journal, is found in the fact that paper is effectually cornered, and it knows not which way to turn or twist in order to succeed best in cheating and hood-winking its readers. During the whole campaign of '55 the Journal was loud toned in its devotion to freedom in Kansas, and iterated and reiterated that when that question came up, it would be found doing battle on the old whig platform of "freedom in the territories." Well, the time has come when the question has to be met; there is no getting round it;— there it is directly in the track, and it must be met fully, squarely and manfully; but the Bangor Journal is not yet ready for it; nor will it be ready until it makes the final leap into the arms of Nebraska locofocoism, which, in the vain hope of cheating a few honest whigs, it does not intend to do until the State campaign is over. We shall see how the thimble rigging game will succeed.

But the Journal is anxious to have State issues settled in September, and we share in its anxiety. State issues shall then and there be decided. But those issues will not concern "Dow, Peck and Weaver," nor will they have anything to do with lies about "pauper dissection bills" and "academy grants," nor any of those thousand falsehoods on which the Coalition rode into power in '55. The State issues will rather concern the purity and sanctity of the Judiciary, and whether that important department of government hitherto revered and respected, by all parties, shall be made, as the Coalition dynasty has attempted to make it, the mere football of politics, to be made and unmade at the bidding and dictation of reckless and unprincipled party leaders. That is one issue for the State election.

Another issue will concern the economical administration of the government and the Coalition dynasty will be held to strict account for ROBBERIES, base ROBBERIES of the STATE TREASURY. Investigations will disclose the fact that during the four months that Gov. Wells has filled the Executive chair, there have been large amounts of THE PEOPLE'S MONEY, ILLEGALLY and FRAUDULENTLY taken from the TREASURY.— This will be a prominent, nay, a controlling issue in the State canvass, and we warn the Bangor Journal to scour up all its vocabulary of blackguard adjectives to heap on the heads of those whose duty it will be, at the proper time, to expose these hideous thefts and frauds.— Not "Dow, Peck and Weaver," we beg, in conclusion, to assure the Bangor Journal, but rather "Wells, Barnes and Strickland," will be the issues in the coming State canvass.— "These be the men" whom the people insist on bringing to an account for gross and palpable abuses of their stewardships.—Ken. Journal.

A Perfumed Breath.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentrifice would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know that their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush, and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year. For sale by D. Bugbee & Co. and all druggists. s&w

Mr. Giddings and Col. Fremont.

The Hon. Joshua R. Giddings, in a letter to the Ashtabula Sentinel, contradicts the assertion of the Union that he had written or instigated articles opposing the nomination of Col. Fremont for the Presidency. He says:

"I have never intimated an unkind feeling toward him, nor of opposition to his election.— On the contrary, I have constantly said that I would sustain him with the greatest pleasure, if he holds to the right and duty of Congress to exclude slavery from the territories, and receives the nomination. This rule I apply to every candidate, and I do not believe the people will support or nominate any man whose views on this subject shall be withheld from the public. Nor will the people be willing to receive the assurance of myself or of other individuals, in regard to the views of the candidates. The views of each should be expressed by his past conduct, or by distinct avowal over his own signature. We cannot afford to be deceived at this important crisis.

When I say I have expressed no hostility to any candidate, I will add I have expressed no choice in favor of any individual. But I stand pledged to support the Philadelphia nominee, if he be openly committed to our policy. If such candidate be nominated, his election may be regarded as certain; while any attempt of the Philadelphia Convention to follow past examples, by taking a candidate whose opinions are uncertain and unknown, must insure defeat.

Our candidate must command support because his principles are known to be right, and not for the reason that his friends don't know whether he is right or wrong. Let Judge McLean, or Colonel Fremont or any other man spoken of, be the nominee because of his adhesion to these principles and he will be elected. Without such adherence, I apprehend defeat must await him."

Police Court.—John Fitzpatrick, drunk and noisy on Broad St., was sentenced to fine and costs, $4,02. Paid up. Jane O'Brien, drunk, was sentenced $5,02 in fine and costs. Committed.—Mercury.

Two persons were committed to the watch-house yesterday for being intoxicated.

Steamer Daniel Webster. Mr. M. C. Rogers the efficient and long-tried first pilot of the steamer Daniel Webster, gives us an interesting account of the doings of that popular boat during the last season. From him we learn that the Webster commenced her trips last year on the 26th of March and continued until November 23d. She made 103 trips, and the whole distance run was 32,549 miles. The time in running was 82 days 1 hour and 27 minutes, 24 hours constituting a day by the reckoning. Her average speed was 16 9,40 miles per hour. Her engine performed 5,203,818 revolutions. The longest passage from Bangor to Portland was 13 hours, 13 minutes, and the shortest 9 hours; the last the quickest trip on record. These data show not only a remarkable regularity in performing the trips, but also the assiduity of the engineers and pilots, upon whose care and intelligence the interests and safety of the passengers depend. Belfast Journal.

Later from Kansas. St. Louis, May 6.— (Lawrence correspondence of the Democrat.) Col. Sumner encamped opposite Lawrence, 25th, with 120 dragoons. He addressed a letter on the 27th to Gov. Robinson, stating that the attack upon Sheriff Jones had produced great excitement throughout the Territory and the Missouri frontier, and urging upon the people of Kansas the importance of ferreting out and bringing the assassin to justice. He also says that the offence has been reported at Washington, and whatever orders are received thence will be carried out.

Gov. Robinson replied that the attempted assassination of Jones was unanimously condemned by the citizens of Lawrence. If the guilty one was found, he would be given up.— It has been the policy of the people of Lawrence to yield prompt obedience to the laws and officers of the general government, and as Jones was acting under authority of the government on the day of the assault, the one who perpetrated the deed was enemy to the citizens of Lawrence, no less than to the violated laws.— Whitfield returned to Lawrence on the 27th.

Mr. Oliver acted as his attorney before the Commission during his absence

Fire at Owl's Head.—On Wednesday evening, the 30th of April, a fire was discovered in the store at Owl's Head, owned by Samuel F. Coombs, and occupied by Coombs & Hooper. The store was totally destroyed, and none of the goods were saved, except a very few articles in an injured condition. The Post-office was kept in the store, and everything belonging to it—records, mail bags, and all were burnt.— About $10 worth of postage stamps were saved. The upper part was occupied as a dwelling house by Mr. Coombs. All his furniture— valued at $500—was burnt.

The building was insured for $600. The stock in trade was valued at about $2800 at the time of the fire.—U. S. Democrat.

The Newburyport Herald says:

The Census Returns of the United States show the total population to be 27,868,664, which is an increase of 18 1,2 per cent. in the last five years. New England has had a relative increase of 10 per cent; the Middle States 11,6; the Southern Atlantic States, which have made the slowest progress, 6,3; the South Western 17,6; the Western 28,8; and the Pacific States 45,7.

We should like to enquire when and how this new census of the United States was taken —and what might be the present population of Maine?

The men must have more justice done to them in matters of the affections. A young German who came to Ohio seventeen years ago was betrothed to a fair young girl in his own country, but they were too poor to marry. After he had been here a short time their letters were interrupted, and the girl becoming an orphan, married another, and had three children, when her husband died, leaving her destitute, and she went to the parish poor house. Meantime our hero, the emigrant, worked hard and kept his faith till he had earned enough to justify him in returning to Germany to see whether his betrothed was false or dead. The facts did not change his true heart, and he married her and brought her and her children to his little home in Ohio.

Valuable Cargoes. Two large and valuable cargoes were cleared on Friday at the Charleston (S. C.) Custom House. The first was ship Eliza Bonsall, of Charleston, 1260 tons, with 4200 bales Upland and 38 bags Sea Island cotton, and 1603 bags (3386 bushels) Indian corn. Value of cargo $201,317. This vessel, loaded, drew but 15 feet, 7 inches of water. The second was the Witch of the Wave, of Newburyport, 1190 tons, for Havre, with 3335 bales Upland and 605 bags Sea Island cotton, valued at $223,983. The latter is the most valuable cargo ever cleared at Charleston for Havre. Ship Agnes, of Boston, which cleared for Havre on the 31st of March, had 2786 bales Upland and 744 bags Sea Island cotton, and 11 casks rice; the cargo valued at $211,260.

The next arrival from the Pacific will, in all probability, bring us the result of the vote in the Territory of Oregon, relative to the formation of a State Government. An election was held, for this purpose, on the first Monday of April. The ballot was to be for or against a Convention for the formation of a State Constitution. If carried in the affirmative, delegates are to be elected for the several counties, according to population, and to assemble at the seat of Government on the 4th of July next.— The Constitution is then to be submitted to the people of the Territory for ratification.

A Great Voyage. The ship Abigail arrived at New Bedford on Monday from a whaling voyage, having been absent forty-four months. She has taken during that time 329 barrels of sperm oil, 5,253 barrels of whale oil, and 89,500 pounds of bone. At present prices the aggregate of the voyage would amount to about $195,000.

At a splendid dinner party at the country seat of a lord, they suddenly missed Garrick, and could not imagine what had become of him, till they were drawn to the window by the convulsive screams and peals of laughter of a young negro boy, who was rolling on the ground in a perfect ecstasy of delight to see Garrick mimicking a turkey cock in the court-yard, with his coat tail stuck out behind, and in a seeming flutter of rage and pride.

Senate.—The House bill, giving five hundred thousand acres [illegible] for Roads, was re[illegible] Mr Jones of Iowa, said that it [illegible] passage.

Mr. Foot moved its reference [to the Com]mittee on Public Lands. After debate the bill was passed following vote: yeas 31, nays 9.

Mr. James, from the Committee reported a bill amendatory of the [illegible] the object being to protect the pu[blic] [against] oppressive invalid patents and the [illegible] inventor from the piracies [of] infringers.

Adjourned till Monday.

House. The message of the Se[nate] for a third committee of conference [on] the disagreeing amendments to the bill being under consideration, Mr. [illegible] he rose to defend the people of Mis[souri] [illegible] Mr. Giddings yesterday and were [illegible] deserved to be hanged.

Mr. Giddings, interrupting, expl[ained] [illegible] his statement was th[at] the peo[ple of Mis]souri, by collecting an armed body, [for the pur]pose of usurping the government had committed treason, and and [against the] constitution of the United [States] were guilty of the charge.

Mr. Phelps denied the charge, a[nd] [illegible] such an idea existed only in the im[agination of] its author. The Missourians who [went] [illegible] in Nov. and Dec. last, went for [illegible] ofl[illegible] the laws, [illegible] shed were properly attributed to th[e] Mr. Giddings.

After debate the proposition to a committee of Conference [illegible] the De[illegible] was adopted.

A long discussion ensued on the [illegible] to allow the parties to the New Mex[ico] [contest]ed election case, to be heard before t[he House] in person or by counsel; and witho[ut] [illegible] the matter the House adjourned.

Mr. Buchanan and the Penn. D[elegation]

PHILADELPHIA

The committee appointed by the Convention, to inform Mr. Buchanan [of his] nomination by them to the Presidency [illegible] [discharg]ed that duty yesterday, at Wheatland. [Mr.] Brewer, chairman of the committee, [addressed] Mr. Buchanan in a complimentary s[peech], [pre]senting him with a copy of the proc[eedings of] the convention, and of the platform a[dopted] by it.

Mr. Buchanan replied briefly, fully [and] [illegible], endorsing all the resolutions, b[ut] [illegible] [the] acceptance declined the nomination, [illegible] can be gathered from his speech as r[eported].

Foreign Missions.

NEW YORK,

The annual meeting of the Ameri[can Board] of Commissioners for Foreign Mis[sions was] held in the Broadway Tabernacle this [illegible] Hon. T. Frelinghuysen presided, a[nd] the Rev. Dr. Dewitt and [illegible]-Chance[llor] [Wal]worth.

A statement of the condition of th[e] Foreign Missions, under the care of th[e Board] was read by the Rev. Dr. Wood.

There are 400 laborers in the f[oreign] field—of these 163 are ordained mi[ssionaries] are assistants as physicians, etc., and female assistants. There are also [native] preachers and 227 catechists, compris[ing] of 697 laborers in connection with th[e missions] of the Board. There are also 11 presses which have issued a total of pages. There are 19 boarding school[s] [ex]clusive of those in the Sandwich Isl[ands] are 365 common schools having 12,0[00] [scholars.] 11 new churches have been added [to those] already in existence. The receipts of [the Board] for that portion of the year which has [elapsed] have amounted to $217,[illegible]4,34. A[n in]crease of receipts will be necessary in [order to] meet the extraordinary expenditure, [and pre]vent the increase of the debt which a[t the last] anniversary amounted to $[illegible]0,500. [Addresses] were delivered by Rev. [illegible] B. Fa[illegible] Bombay, E. W. Clark of Honolulu, J[ohn Mc]Leod of Montreal, and Donald Fraser [of Mon]treal.

Disasters at Sea.

POCASSET, MASS.

A lumber laden schr. name unknow[n] ashore off West Sandwich Harbor thi[s after]noon, went to pieces and three lives w[ere lost.]

Second Despatch.—The schr., wrec[ked at] West Sandwich beach, is Dail. Parke[r,] [with] [illegible] from Bangor for New York. Smith, master, Israel Snow mate; [and the] cook were drowned. Two men were sa[ved].

PORTLAND, M[E.]

The Bark Jubilee, Godin[g], from C[illegible] 22d ult., arrived here to-day, and repor[ts] on Monday 5th inst., at 7 P. M., South [illegible] bearing SW by W 2[illegible] miles, she fell [in with] the ship Adriana, of Bath, abandoned. [She] boarded her. She appeared to have bee[n] doned but a short time. No boats w[ere at]tached, nor any clothing on board; all [illegible] and 12 feet of water in her hold. [The ship was at]tempted, with schr. King of the Forest [to take] her into port, but finding her settling f[ast, at] night and bad weather coming on, wer[e oblig]ed to abandon her. She was apparentl[y] laden, as one of her pumps was lying o[n deck] and quantities of coal lying around, hav[ing ap]parently choked the pump. When [they left] her at dark, her deck was even amidshi[ps with] the water's edge. The schr. intended [to lay] by her during the night, but thinks sh[e must] have gone down before morning.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 9th.

SENATE.—The House bill, giving one million five hundred thousand acres of land to Iowa for Roads, was read.

Mr Jones of Iowa, asked that it be put on its passage.

Mr. Foot moved its reference to the committee on Public Lands.

After debate the bill was passed by the following vote: yeas 31, nays 9.

Mr. James, from the Committee on Patents, reported a bill amendatory of the Patent laws, the object being to protect the public against inventions patents, and the really meritorious inventor from the pirates of dishonest ...

Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE. The message of the Senate asking for a third committee of conference relative to the disagreeing amendments to the efficiency bill being under consideration, Mr. Phelps said he rose to defend the people of Missouri, whom Mr Giddings yesterday said were traitors and deserved to be hanged.

Mr Giddings, interrupting, explained, saying his statement was that the people of Missouri, by collecting an armed body for the purpose of usurping the government of Kansas, had committed treason; and under the laws and constitution of the United States they were guilty of the charge.

Mr. Phelps denied the charge, and said that such an idea existed only in the imagination of its author. The Missourians who went to Kansas in Nov. and Dec. last, went for the purpose of maintaining the laws. The scenes of bloodshed were properly attributed to the friends of Mr Giddings.

After debate the proposition to appoint a 3d committee of Conference on the Deficiency bill was adopted.

A long discussion ensued on the resolution to allow the parties to the New Mexico contested election case, to be heard before the House, in person or by counsel, and without deciding the matter the House adjourned.

Mr. Buchanan and the Penn. Democrats.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.

The committee appointed by the Pa. Dem. Convention, to inform Mr. Buchanan of his nomination by them to the Presidency, performed that duty yesterday, at Wheatland. Mr. Brewer, chairman of the committee, addressed Mr. Buchanan in a complimentary speech, presenting him with a copy of the proceedings of the convention, and of the platform resolutions adopted by it.

Mr. Buchanan replied briefly, fully and heartily, endorsing all the resolutions, but neither accepts or declines the nomination, as far as can be gathered from his speech as reported.

Foreign Missions.

NEW YORK, May 9.

The annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions was held in the Broadway Tabernacle this morning. Hon. T. Frelinghuysen presided, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Dewitt and Ex-Chancellor Walworth.

A statement of the condition of the work of Foreign Missions, under the care of this board, was read by the Rev. Dr. Wood.

There are 400 laborers in the missionary field—of these 163 are ordained ministers, 23 are assistants as physicians, etc., and 220 are female assistants. There are also 65 native preachers and 227 catechists, comprising a total of 697 laborers in connection with the missions of the Board. There are, also 11 printing presses which have issued a total of 26,000,000 pages. There are 19 boarding schools, and exclusive of those in the Sandwich Islands there are 365 common schools having 12,000 pupils; 11 new churches have been added to the 104 already in existence. The receipts of the board for that portion of the year which has elapsed, have amounted to $217,18-.5-. A great increase of receipts will be necessary in order to meet the extraordinary expenditures, and prevent the increase of the debt which at the last anniversary amounted to $20,500. Addresses were delivered by Rev. S. B. Fairbanks of Bombay, E. W. Clark of Honolulu, J. C. McLeod of Montreal, and Donald Fraser of Montreal.

Storm at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.

A severe storm occurred in this vicinity yesterday, at Baton Rouge. Several bridges were unroofed, and considerable other damage was done.

Disasters at Sea.

POCASSET, MASS, May 9.

A lumber laden schr, name unknown, went ashore off West Sandwich Harbor this afternoon, went to pieces and three lives were lost.

Second Despatch.—The schr wrecked on West Sandwich beach, is Deal, Parker of Orleans, from Bangor for New York. Richard Smith, master; Israel Snow, mate; and the cook were drowned. Two men were saved.

PORTLAND, May 9.

The Bark Jubilee, Godting, from Cardenas 2d ult., arrived here to-day, and reports that on Monday 5th inst., at 7 P. M. South Shoal, bearing SW by W 24 miles, she fell in with the ship Adriana, of Bath, abandoned. They boarded her. She appeared to have been abandoned but a short time. No boats were attached, nor any clothing on board; all sail set, and 12 feet of water in her hold. They attempted, with schr. King of the Forest, to get her into port, but finding her settling fast, and night and bad weather coming on, were obliged to abandon her. She was apparently coal-laden, as one of her pumps was lying on deck, and quantities of coal lying around, having apparently choked the pump. When they left her at dark, her deck was even amidships with the water's edge. The schr. intended laying by her during the night, but thinks she must have gone down before morning.

THE INSANITY OF AN EDITOR. Mr. Bonner, of the New York Ledger, has lately shown strong symptoms of insanity. Having obtained popular writers for his paper, he has been advertising it in the daily papers in the most reckless and extravagant manner. Instead of giving short and modest advertisements, he has filled whole columns with notices of the Ledger. In this way he has spent many thousands of dollars in the course of a few weeks. His recklessness was such that he ought undoubtedly to have failed. Accidentally, however, the circulation of his paper has increased, beyond all precedent. When he began to throw away his money as above stated, he printed some three thousand to five thousand copies. Of late, however, the number has increased to sixty thousand, eighty thousand, one hundred thousand, and this last week one hundred and ten thousand! There are but two or three weekly papers in the world having a larger circulation.

Mr. B., we are sorry to say, still continues to be a good deal deranged, or at least he insists that this great increase is owing to his system of advertising—that it was good policy for him to waste his money in advertising.—Bridgeport Daily Standard.

A gentleman having sent a quantity of peaches to the laborers on the road in the vicinity of Boston, one of them was asked how he liked them; he said they were very good, but the seeds scratched his throat a little as he swallowed them.

At a Republican meeting in Ellicottville, N. Y., a few days since, Hon. ... Angel, a prominent and influential ..., made a powerful speech, in which he defined his position to be hereafter with the Republican party.

An ostler was dangerously bitten by a horse belonging to Mr. Prince's Express, this afternoon. The man was in the stall about putting the head stall upon the horse, when he turned and bit him in the abdomen in a most severe manner. State of Maine, 8th.

California Steamers, Carrying the United States Mails!

5th and 20th of each Month.

Reduced Prices. 100 lbs. Baggage Free.

Through Tickets, including transit of the Isthmus, via Panama R. R.

By order of the Postmaster General, the United States Mail Steamers will hereafter be despatched from New York direct to Aspinwall, on the 5th and 20th of each month.

Passengers are landed at the Railroad Depot, Aspinwall, and conveyed across to the Pacific Steamers without any extra expense. This is the only line giving entire Through Tickets, including meals, on the Isthmus.

Transit made in four hours, entirely by daylight, thus avoiding the great exposure by night in open boats to fever and ague, and 200 miles of dangerous lake and river navigation over rocks and shoals.

Arrangements have now been completed so that the regular U. S. Pacific Mail Steamer will leave Panama for San Francisco immediately on arrival of the Atlantic Mails and passengers, thus securing passengers by the Mail Line a sure and short passage, without any detention on the Isthmus.

Tickets must be signed by one of the Company's Agents before they will be recognized by the Agent at Panama, and Tickets thus signed can be obtained of the only authorized Agent for the Atlantic and Pacific Mail Steamship Companies, in this city. C. L. BARTLETT, Agent, No. 16 Broad Street, Boston.

ARNOLD'S COMBINED

FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN, ...AND.... NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention, is now prepared to offer them to the public.

As a FOOT STOVE, it answers as excellent purpose, as it can be sufficiently heated in less than one minute to warm and dry the feet in the coldest winter weather, and will be found to be an indispensable article in traveling. It is heated by an oil, alcohol, or fluid lamp, the flame of which is protected from every external object.

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less likely to be overset, or get broken, and can be used as a house lamp with equal advantage.

As a NURSE LAMP, and in cases of sickness, it is of great advantage in keeping drinks or medicines warm, beside giving the light desired, and for cooking in small quantities. For making tea, &c., it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a flat-iron heat in the same length of time.

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by every one. No further description is required, as no one can misunderstand its general utility. To say any thing more respecting its adaptability to a hundred purposes would just be telling what our readers can all see at once for themselves.

For sale, wholesale and retail, at No's 16, 17 and 19 Central Street, Bangor.

The Great European Cough Remedy.

"Imported to the Consumptive and the Public generally." The celebrated

Universal Cough Mixture

IS a safe and effectual Remedy for Coughs of every description, whether of children or adults, of recent or long standing.

PREPARED ONLY BY REV. WALTER CLARKE, Sole Proprietor, Cornishville, Maine.

Within the last twelve months thousands of bottles of the Universal Cough Mixture have been sold in the State of Maine alone, and everywhere its extraordinary power in relieving and curing diseases of the Chest and Lungs, is gratefully acknowledged; and especially in cases of obstinate and long standing Coughs, it speedily allays the unpleasant sensation in the throat which excites coughing, it promotes free and easy expectoration, and by removing the exciting cause of the cough, it frequently enables the sufferers to enjoy natural and refreshing sleep, who for weeks had been deprived of that blessing.

Sold in trial bottles, 25 cents each; large bottles, each containing the quantity of four small ones, 75 cents each.

Extract of a letter from Daniel Adams, Esq., of Bowdoinham, Maine.

To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—The bottle of Cough Mixture which I bought of you at Topsham had the desired effect on my wife. She had been afflicted with a cough for two years—that bottle entirely removed it.

From Rev. Jesse Hoyt, Lewiston Falls.

Rev. Clarke—Every bottle of the Universal Cough Mixture which you left with me, is sold—and I have several applications for more. As far as heard from, all have been perfectly satisfied with the medicine. One man, who had a cough of long standing, attended with tightness of the chest and shortness of breath, so that he was laid aside from business, purchased one large bottle and before he had taken one third of it, was perfectly cured, and has had no cough since. He says it is the best medicine in the world, and cannot be recommended too highly.

JESSE HAYES.

From Mr. Fletcher Chick, agent for North Dixmont, Maine.

Dear Sir—A number of the most extraordinary cures have been effected by your Universal Cough Mixture in this place. Several who had coughs of a year's standing, and others who have been doctored six months without receiving any benefit, have been speedily cured by the Universal Cough Mixture.

From Mrs. Hubbard, Thorndike, Me.

February 1, 1854.

To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—This certifies that I have used one bottle of your Universal Cough Mixture for a distressing cough and soreness in the lungs. I had previously taken several kinds of medicine, and had been under the care of several physicians, without obtaining the least relief. I apply your Universal Cough Mixture was recommended to me. I procured a bottle, which I began to take according to directions on the label, by which in a few days I was entirely cured.

MARGARET P. HUBBARD.

LET US REASON TOGETHER

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

WHY ARE WE SICK?

IT has been the lot of the human race to be weighed down by disease and suffering. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are specially adapted to the relief of the WEAK, the NERVOUS, the DELICATE, and the INFIRM, of all climes, ages, sexes and constitutions. Professor Holloway personally superintends the manufacture of his medicines in the United States, and offers them to a free and enlightened people as the best remedy the world ever saw for the removal of disease.

These Pills Purify the Blood.

These famous Pills are expressly combined to operate on the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, the lungs, the skin, and the bowels, correcting any derangement in their functions, purifying the blood, the very fountain of life, and thus curing disease in all its forms.

Dyspepsia & Liver Complaint.

Nearly half the human race have taken these Pills. It has been proved in all parts of the world that nothing has been found equal to them in cases of disorders of the liver, dyspepsia, and stomach complaints generally. They soon give a healthy tone to these organs, however much deranged, and when all other means have failed.

General Debility. Ill Health.

Many of the most despotic Governments have opened their Custom Houses to the introduction of these Pills, that they may become the medicine of the masses. Learned Colleges admit that this medicine is the best remedy ever known for persons of delicate health, or where the system has been impaired, as its invigorating properties never fail to afford relief.

Female Complaints.

No Female, young or old should be without this celebrated medicine. It corrects and regulates the monthly courses, at all periods, acting in many cases like a charm. It is also the best and safest medicine that can be given to children of all ages, and for any complaint—consequently no family should be without it.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following Diseases:

Asthma	Dropsy	Inward Weakness
Bowel Complaints	Debility	Lowness of Spirits
Coughs	Fever and Ague	Piles
Colds	Female Complaints	Stone and Gravel
Chest Diseases	Headaches	Secondary Symptoms
Costiveness	Indigestion	Venereal Affections
Dyspepsia	Influenza	Worms of all kinds
Diarrhoea	Inflammation

*Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and 244 Strand, London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers of Medicines throughout the United States, and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cts, 62½ cents, and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

MR. SMITH'S ADVENTURE.

BY FRANCIS A. DURIVAGE.

[Concluded.]

"Vy!" screamed the cockney, whom we must now call by his real name of William Smythe, "vy, because the hengine run off the track—and that's the reason. You're a nice man, Mr. Ruggles—you've given your daughter to an impo[illegible] an adventurer."

"If you'd been named Jenkins or Brown," said Ruggles reproachfully, "this wouldn't have happened."

"It's mighty easy to throw the blame on that," retorted Smythe. "[illegible] can't 'elp that? Besides, I spell it with a y and a he."

"My daughter was a party to the plot, if plot there was," said Ruggles thoughtfully, "for she knew this gentleman at Bath.—Were you ever in Bath?"

"Never," said the cockney.

"And you never saw her?"

"Never."

"Then it is very clear that at least she has married the man she loves, and very likely that the name he claimed was a real one. There's a mystery in this sad affair which I must probe to the bottom. You can assist me, perhaps. Will you stay and dine with us?"

"No, sir—I won't rest another night under this roof. But you shall hear from me again, sir—Chit & Chaffer, Lincoln's Inn.—I'll have redress if there's such a thing as a law in Hingland."

And the cockney banged away to take the next train for London.

This scene threw Mr. Ruggles into a fit of apprehension and perplexity. His daughter had married the wrong man. Yet she knew him—he was gentlemanly and well dressed, and as far as person was concerned, a much fitter mate for beauty than the vulgar Smythe. He trembled to inform his wife of the mystery.

While thus harrassed, his servant handed him a card, on which he read, "William Smith."

"Another Smith! the world is peopled with them. Bring me no more Smiths."

"The gentleman is waiting in his chaise at the door, sir—says he's lame and can't get out; and will you please have the goodness to go to him?"

Mr. Ruggles went into the avenue, and there found a portly gentleman with his legs swathed in voluminous folds of flannel, seated in a pony chaise. He bowed low.

"Mr Ruggles," said he, "we have never met, though I have been in the neighborhood some weeks, having purchased Hawthorn Hall—a property with which you are well acquainted."

Mr. Ruggles bowed.

"I hope to be better known to you, sir, for many reasons—and the most important is that a nephew of mine, who I am determined to adopt and make my heir (I expect him to-day from London—a very fine young fellow, I hear) fell deeply in love with your daughter at Bath, and behaved very honorably, I understand; for having no fortune, he did not venture to propose, but has been trying to cure his passion."

"He is in a fair way to cure himself," said Mr. Ruggles, smiling, "for he married her this morning."

"Married her!" cried the old gentleman; "how dared the rascal?"

"Don't judge him too harshly," said Ruggles. "It is evident that there have been mistakes on both sides, owing to an identity of names, and I have no doubt the whole affair is susceptible of explanation. I have not the least doubt that in marrying my daughter, strange as it may appear, your nephew thought he was obeying the orders of his uncle. I like the young man's appearance much—much better, indeed, than that of my intended son-in-law—Smythe with a y and he who has since turned up. At any rate, if the young people are happy, I don't see why we should mar their felicity, or even let them know there was any mistake about it. I know how to satisfy Mr. Smythe, senior—the uncle—for there are four Smiths, two nephews and two uncles, involved in this affair—and my word for it, all will turn out well."

"I hope so," said Mr. Smith, as he drove away with a promise to call again.
